Local Law Firm Finds a New Home Amidst Downtown Bryan's Rich History and Cutting-Edge Future

BRYAN, Texas, March 27, 2008—Daniel Stark Injury Lawyers recently relocated to the heart of downtown Bryan to be part of the continuing revitalization of the city's history and to enjoy the benefits of the ever-growing fiber optic technology that has become an integral part of the city's future.

The law firm's new home, which is listed on the National Register of Historical Places (added 1987, Building #8700161), was built in 1924 for First State Bank and Trust and was designed by well-known Dallas architects Lang and Witchell. Located at 100 W. William J. Bryan Pkwy., the building was also utilized by the Bryan Independent School District and the Brazos Valley Community Action Agency before the law firm purchased it in 2007. Over the last year, the building has been completely renovated to meet the needs of this regional law firm.

This morning the bank opened for business in the new home, regarded by many who have inspected it as one of the finest in Texas.

Where the Past Meets the Present

While the building's retro art deco exterior may exude an old-fashioned façade, the interior reflects nothing but the latest in technology. The building is uniquely situated to take advantage of the state-of-the-art offerings through Fibertown, a premier technology campus offering a tier 4 data center. Daniel Stark Injury Lawyer's office will have access to a fiber nexus and six major data carriers that provide the office with high-speed connectivity, security, and redundancy, which supports not only the Bryan law office, but also the firm's Dallas/Ft. Worth and Waco, Texas offices.

"Our new office is in an area of innovation and technology," explained Danny Daniel, Partner at Daniel Stark Injury Lawyers. "We feel that this location fits our personality as a company well."

Daniel Stark Injury Lawyer's former office was located on Texas Avenue across from the east entrance to Texas A&M University in College Station.

The public is invited to attend the grand opening of the office on Friday, April 4, 2008, coinciding with First Fridays in Historic Downtown Bryan from 5 to 7 pm. Visitors will enjoy complimentary hors d'oeuvres, live acoustic music, the chance to win gift cards to local merchants and restaurants, and guided tours of the building. Also, there will be an art display featuring the work of local artists.
